Online Math League

The Online Math League is an enrichment opportunity for students who enjoy mathematics and want to participate in a mathematics competition. The math competition is aligned with common core standards and include problems of varying difficulty. There are three Online Math League contests during the school year. To form a team, there must be at least four students competing at the same grade level from the same school, but there is no limit to the number of students. The scores are cumulative, and team awards are presented at the end of the year to the top 10%. Individual awards are also given to the top scoring students.

The Online Math League program is successful at Parley's Park because of the parent volunteers who come in each week to help the teams practice. There is an Online Math League team in each grade level, 2-5.

As of the second round of competition, Parley's Park has the following rankings:

- 2nd Grade:13th Place
- 3rd Grade: 8th Place
- 4th Grade: 11th Place
- 5th Grade: 8th Place

We would like to give recognition to the following 5th grade team members who had a high score of 117 out of 120 points.

Mason C., Nate R., Drew D., Justin Z., Ana L., Kelsey B.,Gus C., Sophia K., Dylan B., Lauren G., AJ S., Christian B., Lehua E., Ava B., Solomon G., Tanvi P., Lena E., Connor S., Wesley S., Tavish H., Sophie N., Devan D., Cedric D., Patrick S., Oliver S., Brooks, B., Colin C., Anna G., Emily H., Jessica J., Ella R., Grace R., Hayden S., Connor G., Ben H., Leslie J., Jessica L., Garrett P., Reid V., and William P.

Congratulations, Parley's Park Elementary!

Hope Lives: Preventing Teen Suicide

Park City High School Lecture Hall

Utah's suicide rate has always been higher than that of the rest of the nation. Among teens ages 10 to 17, the suicide rate has tripled in less than a decade. On average two Utah teens attempt to end their lives every day. Hope Lives provides hope through the stories of survivors and of innovative approaches schools are taking to prevent suicide. The film highlights three stories — a promising young athlete who took his own life when he wasn't admitted to the colleges he wanted; a young man now in his late 20s who talks candidly about his suicide attempt as a teen and the relief he felt when he survived; and a young transgender teen who survived her suicide attempt, which reaffirmed her desire to live. The film will be accompanied by student panels, information tables, and refreshments.

Paper Tigers

Jim Santy Auditorium at the Park City Library

More than two decades ago, two respected researchers published the game-changing Adverse Childhood Experiences Study. It revealed a troubling but irrefutable phenomenon: the more traumatic experiences the respondents had as children (such as physical and emotional abuse and neglect), the more likely they were to develop health problems later in life. However, this very same study contains the seed of hope: all of the above-mentioned risk factors —behavioral as well as physiological—can be offset by the presence of one dependable and caring adult. It doesn't need to be the mother or the father. It doesn't even need to be a close or distant relative. More often than not, that stable, caring adult is a teacher. Set within and around the campus of Lincoln Alternative High School in the rural community of Walla Walla, Washington, Paper Tigers asks the following questions: What does it mean to be a trauma-informed school? And how do you educate teens whose childhood experiences have left them with a brain and body ill-suited to learn? Following the film, we will hear from Authentic Strengths author Fatima Doman who will reveal how resilience, positive psychology, and the 24 character strengths are often viewed as the antidote to adverse childhood experiences.

Resilience: The Biology of Stress & The Science of Hope

Park City High School Lecture Hall

Resilience reveals that toxic stress can trigger hormones that wreak havoc on the brains and bodies of children, putting them at a greater risk for disease, homelessness, prison time, and early death. While the broader impacts of poverty worsen the risk, no segment of society is immune. Resilience, however, also chronicles the dawn of a movement that is determined to fight back. Trailblazers in pediatrics, education, and social welfare are using cutting-edge science and field-tested therapies to protect children from the insidious effects of toxic stress—and the dark legacy of a childhood that no child would choose. The film will be followed by discussion from a panel of counselors, clinicians, and teachers who will explore what it means to be resilient and offer hope and protection for our children.
